

Jester's 4E Ravenloft Manual of Monsters

For use with the Ravenloft Campaign Setting

Introduction

Welcome to Jester's 4E Ravenloft Manual of Monsters for the RAVENLOFT Campaign Setting.

What this Document is

Updated Besties: This booklet contains updated monsters from the world of Ravenloft, using the 4e D&D rules.

New Rules: This booklet also contains new rules for monster weaknesses and new variants for monsters.

Modular: Much of this document is designed to be flexible. GMs should allow what they want and ignore what they don't.

What it is Not

Replacement: This is in no way a replacement for any of the previous Ravenloft products. At least one version of the Campaign Setting is required, and strongly encouraged. Limited monster descriptions are included for updated monsters so past versions of Ravenloft Monster Compendiums are encouraged.

Mandatory: If you want to run the game with just the official books or 3e rules feel free.

Excuse not to buy: Support the game, WotC, and your FLGS. Keep D&D alive for the next generation. Piracy is wrong and/or illegal folks!

New Options

ALLERGENS

Some monsters have an Achilles' heel or weakness that can leave them weak or even vulnerable. These allergens or zietgebers are often common and unremarkable objects or substances that have no effect on others. Allergens affect individual monsters, specific vampires, or certain types of lycanthrope. There are no universal allergens that are equally effective.

Well known examples of allergens are vampires' reversion to garlic or some werewolves' loathing of wolfsbane. Many golems have an auditory or visual allergen that triggers strong emotion, while mummies and other ancient dead often respond to mundane or spiritual objects.

TYPES OF ALLERGEN

Allergens come in three types: impact, placed, and presented.

Impact: These objects must strike or touch the creature to be effective. There must be physical contact between the allergen and the monster. These need not be weapons or damaging blows; even the light touch of a cross can burn some vampires.

Placed: These allergens must be in the immediate area and often have an aura or strong odour. They do not have to be visible or have an overt presence to be effective.

Presented: These objects must be shown to the creature and displayed prominently. While contact is not necessary they are still often thrust at the opponent.

USING AN ALLERGEN

To use an allergen in combat requires an attack roll. This varies depending on the type of allergen, described below:

- ◆ Impact: Strength vs. Reflex
- ◆ Placed: Intelligence vs. Fortitude
- ◆ Presented: Charisma vs. Will

ALLERGEN STRENGTH

There is a range of potency amongst allergens. Some monsters have several weak vulnerabilities, while others have a single strong flaw. Other deadly monsters have only a single, minor weakness.

- ◆ Weak: These allergens might impose a -1 penalty on certain activities, or minor condition such as being dazed or slowed.

If they deal damage use the Low column from the Normal Damage Expression chart.

- ◆ Moderate: These allergens might impose a -2 penalty on certain activities, or minor condition such as being immobilized or weakened.

If they deal damage use the Medium column from the Normal Damage Expression chart.

- ◆ Strong: These allergens might impose a -3 penalty on certain activities or a blanket -1 penalty on all actions and rolls. It might also impose serious condition such as being stunned or blinded.

If they deal damage use the High column from the Normal Damage Expression chart.

ALLERGENS IN THE GAME

Allergens are used to make a hard combat easier and give players and PCs an edge over a formidable foe. They can be used to reward players that go the extra step in researching or learning about a particular foe. Or they can be used to enable a party to face and (possibly) defeat an enemy that might otherwise be too powerful for them.

Allergens typically do not change the XP reward from a combat encounter, nor does adding an allergen modify the level or XP of a monster. They are situational modifiers, similar to terrain or a vulnerability, which works in the PC's favour. Allergens do not affect rewards: just as PCs would not receive a modified XP reward by equipping silvered weapons before facing a werewolf or employing fire against a cold-based creature.

One possibility in-game use is to have an allergen be the reward for a successful skill challenge: if the PCs manage to successfully research and investigate their enemy they gain access to the allergen. If they fail at the challenge they can proceed, although the result may be more difficult.

SAMPLE ALLERGENS

Below are a few examples of allergens that might be added to a game.

Memory Melody Allergen

The music box's song, played during the monster's creation, echoes through the hall.

At-Will

Standard Action

Type: Strong Placed

Target: A golem

Attack: Intelligence vs. Fortitude

Hit: The target is stunned (save ends). Aftereffect: The target is dazed. This effect lasts until the end of the placer's next turn.

Sustain Minor: The effect persists.

Wolfsbane Allergen

The heavy odour fills the area. While mildly foul to your nose, it is overpowering to wolves.

At-Will

Standard Action

Type: Moderate Placed

Target: A lycanthrope

Attack: Intelligence vs. Fortitude

Hit: The target is weakened or slowed (chosen randomly). The effect last as long as the wolfsbane is present, until the end of the encounter, or 5 minutes, whichever comes first.

STAKING

The wooden stake is a popular bane of vampires. Using a wooden stake is an at-will attack that can be made by anyone, similar to a basic melee attack. However, not every vampire is vulnerable to a wooden stake and it is impossible to attempt in combat.

To stake a vampire a stake or wooden spear must be wielded and the vampire must be helpless (typically unconscious or sleeping).

Attempts to stake a non-vampire is just a coup de grace.

Stake Vampire At-Will Attack

You drive the wooden point deep into its chest.

At-Will + Weapon

Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One helpless creature (vampire)

Attack: Strength vs. AC

Hit: 1[W] + Strength modifier damage and the target is grabbed by the stake and cannot take any actions other than attempting to escape. The stake uses your Reflex or Fortitude for escape attempts and the vampire takes a -5 penalty to escape the grab.

Increase damage to 2[W] + Strength modifier at 21st level.

Special: If the target was prone when staked, they instead take a -10 penalty on attempts to escape the grab.

VARIANT MONSTERS

Variant monsters are slightly different than standard versions of the monster. The most common example are racial vampires: not every vampire was once a human, many were created from non-human races such as elves and dwarves.

USING VARIANTS

Variants are similar to templates only they do not change a standard monster into an elite. Instead, they replace a specific standard ability with a different racial power.

CALIBAN VAMPIRES

Caliban are already outsiders but caliban vampires, or alocka, are often avoided even by other undead. The process of becoming a vampire makes a caliban even more disfigured and inhuman. They are often covered in open sores and have irregular lumpy skin.

Foul Cloud

This power is designed for caliban vampires in place of mist form.

Foul Cloud (standard; encounter) + Polymorph

The caliban vampire becomes insubstantial and gains a fly speed of 6 until the end of their next turn, but cannot make normal attacks. The caliban vampire can end the effect as a minor action.

If they enter an enemy's square they can make an attack: Level +3 vs. Fortitude; the target is stunned (save ends).

Unnatural Resistance

This power replaces second wind in caliban vampires.

Unnatural Resistance (standard; encounter) +

Healing

The caliban vampire spends a healing surge and gains resist 5 against all damage until the start of its next turn.

DWARVEN VAMPIRES

To the dwarves, vampires are known as the drinkers of the earthblood or uppyr. Dwarven vampires loath sunlight more than typical vampires and are creatures of absolute darkness.

Dwarven vampires are both embraced and rejected by the earth and must be staked by stone weapons instead of wood. Some are only vulnerable to natural stalactites and stalagmites.

Stonewalk

This power is designed to be used by a dwarven vampire in place of mist form.

Stonewalk (standard; encounter) + Polymorph

The dwarf vampire gains phasing when adjacent to rock or stone surfaces. The dwarf vampire can use this power for up to 1 hour or end the effect as a minor action.

Terror Gaze

This power replaces dominating gaze in dwarven vampires.

↗ Terror Gaze (minor; recharge ☹☹) + Fear

Range 5; Level + 3 vs. Will; the target is pushed 3 squares and stunned (save ends, with a -2 penalty).
Aftereffect: The victim cannot target the dwarf vampire with any melee or ranged attacks (save ends).

ELVEN VAMPIRES

Also known craenag-follei, elven vampires kill common plants with a touch and are unfazed by the light of day.

They are immune to garlic but many are held at bay by fresh flower petals. They can be staked by burnt wood or charcoal weapons.

Reversed Vulnerability

Elven vampires have the following traits:

Regeneration 10 (regeneration does not function when the elven vampire is exposed to direct moonlight).

Immune disease, poison; Resist 10 radiant; Vulnerable 5 necrotic

Scarring Touch

This power is designed to be used by an elven vampire instead of blood drain.

↓ Scarring Touch (standard; recharges when adjacent creature becomes bloodied) + Healing

Requires combat advantage; Level + 3 vs. Fortitude; 2d12 + one-half level damage, and the target is stunned (save ends), and the elf vampire regains hit points as if they had spent a healing surge.

Black Thumb

This power replaces dominating gaze in elven vampires.

✱ Black Thumb (standard; recharge ☹☹) + Poison, Zone

Area burst 3 within 5; plants die creating a cloud of noxious gas; Level + 3 vs. Fortitude; 1d6 + Strength modifier poison damage and the zone is considered difficult terrain until the end of the elf vampire's next turn.

HALFLING VAMPIRES

Formerly wandering little folk the dayerg due, are a dark and twisted reflection of the formerly joyous people.

Halfling vampires are vulnerable to the burning of certain herbs and stakes fashioned from the wood of happy homes, toys, or from a hearth.

Smoke Form

This power is designed to be used by a halfling vampire instead of mist form.

Smoke Form (standard; encounter) + Polymorph

The halfling vampire becomes insubstantial, becomes Large, and gains a fly speed of 10, but cannot make attacks. The halfling vampire can remain in smoke form for up to 1 hour or end the effect as a minor action. Creatures in the smoke cloud gain concealment.

Jarring Gaze

This power replaces dominating gaze in halfling vampires.

↗ Jarring Gaze (minor; recharge ☹☹) + Fear

Range 5; Level +3 vs. Will; the target attacks the nearest creature but can only make basic attacks (save ends, with a -2 penalty on the saving throw).
Aftereffect: The target is dazed.

HAG COVEY

Hags have power in numbers, especially groups of three; a trio of hags is known as a covey. While part of a covey, hags can focus their power but must stay in their true form to do so.

Each morning, a covey chooses –as a group– to either swap out its change shape power or retain the ability to disguise themselves.

Covey Powers

- ◆ All hags involved must trade-out the required power.
- ◆ Each involved hag must begin the round adjacent to another involved hag.
- ◆ One hag is the covey's leader. She must delay her action until the other hags have acted.
- ◆ On their turn, assisting hags must spend a standard action for the covey power.

Charm Male

This power can be used in place of change shape in hag coveys.

This power can be used in place of change shape in hag coveys.

↘ Polymorph (standard; recharge ☹☹) + Polymorph

Ranged 5; Level +2 vs. Will +2 for each assisting hag; the target is transformed into a common animal (save ends with a -2 on the saving throw), typically a goat or pig.

The target gains a +1 bonus to speed and a +2 bonus to AC and Reflex defences but cannot take any standard actions or use any attack powers.

Sympathetic Doll

Ranged 5; Level +2 vs. Will +2 for each assisting hag; the target 2d8 + Charisma modifier psychic damage and the target is either slowed, blinded, or deafened (hag's choice) until the end of the hag's next turn.

LICH, DIVINE

In contrast with arcane liches, who are the icon of corrupted wizards, divine liches are fallen paladins and clerics or followers of dark faiths that encourage violation of the natural order.

Darkfire Bolt

Divine liches use this power in place of shadow ray.

↘ Darkfire Bolt (standard; at-will) + Fire, Necrotic

Ranged 20; Level + 4 vs. Reflex; 2d8 + Intelligence fire and necrotic damage.

Sap Life

In divine liches, this power replaces second wind.

Close burst 2; Level +3 vs. Fortitude; 1d6 + Intelligence modifier damage and the lich heals one-quarter of its hit points.

LICH, PSIONIC

Not all liches are powered by arcane magics, some are the creations of the powers of dark gods or masters of the mind.

Psionic Ray

This power replaces the shadow ray power with psionic liches.

↘ Psionic Ray (standard; at-will) + Psionic

Ranged 20; Level + 4 vs. Reflex; 2d8 + Intelligence psychic damage.

Host

A psionic lich has this power in place of indestructible

Host

When a psionic lich is reduced to 0 hit points, its body and possessions crumble to ash. However, it is not destroyed. Its mind transfers to the body of the first living creature that touches the square of its remains. When that creature dies the lich takes over the corpse (and the host's possessions transform into the lich's) after 1d10 days unless the host is resurrected or its body completely destroyed.

VISTANI VAMPIRES

The nomadic gypsies seldom become vampires, but it is not unknown. The mullo are feared by all.

Unlike regular Vampires, the Vistani come and go as they please and need no invitation to enter homes and have few of the vulnerabilities of common vampires.

Mist Step

This power is designed to be used by a Vistani vampire and replaces mist form.

Mist Step (move; encounter) + Teleport
